"An educated man earns more," says the Washington Post. Well, perhaps; but he doesn't always get it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Government records reveal that 4,600 people were killed by gas last year.

200 blew it out.

300 inhaled it.

4,100 stepped on it.

An old French law, passed by the Parliament of Paris in 1770, which reads as follows:

"Whosoever will have seduced into the bonds of marriage any male subject of his Majesty by means of rouge or of powder, of perfumes, or artificial teeth, of false hair, of wadding, of iron banded corsets, of iron banded petticoats, of high heeled shoes or falsely enlarged hips, will be guilty of sorcery and the marriage will be null and void."

Certainly, in this rolled stocking, abbreviated skirt, corsetless, cross kneed, bob haired age a chap would have a tough time to prove any charges of sorcery today.

—Bottles.

Cohn pulled out his pistol and put it in Fosenstein's face.

Just as he was about to fire, Rosenstein said: "How much do you want for the gun?"

Cohn, in telling the story, said: "And how could I kill a man when he was talking business?"—The Alhambra.

"I'm from Florida," announced the stranger at the Gates of Heaven. "Go right in," said St. Peter, "but I don't think you will like the place."

Specialty Shops of

THE shops listed on these pages have been assembled by the St. Louisan for the visitors who seek unusual beauty and originality in their purchases.

The Galleria Building at 4914 Maryland avenue houses six out of the nine listed here.
It may be reached easily from the downtown districts on the Maryland-Olive car and offers a delightful means of shopping liesurely and satisfactorily.

Josephine Scullen occupies attractive quarters just east of the Galleria Building entrance. In her spacious rooms one finds the most exclusive of hats, gowns, and wraps, both ready to wear and to order.
Her display is marked by distinctive designs and luxurious materials.

Cartons at the right of the foyer of the Galleria Building is the ideal spot for gifts.
Delicate china and glassware, artistic bronzes, etchings, and countless novelties suggest themselves as unusual gifts.

The Chintz Shop next to Cartons is a delightful temptation for the home lover.
Unusual furniture, pillows, cretonnes, chintzes and other home accessories intrigue
the eye.

On the other side of the foyer one finds Suzanne, Inc., whose chic models tempt the shopper to select a complete new wardrobe.
Young women whose names are prominent on social register charmingly display the shops newest imports.

The shopper is fortunate if she finds herself in the Galleria Building at luncheon or dinner, for on the second floor is the Lucy Hall tea room famed for its delicious menus. One of the large dairy companies bottle special buttermilk exclusively for the tea room.

Sidney Ashen-Brenner's interesting studio is also on the second floor. His delicate portrait chalk drawings are gaining attention and imitation throughout the country. They are wonderfully airy bits of light colored chalks and pigment, so fascinatingly dainty that few resist the desire to possess one. Mr. Cahill, the courteous charge d'affairs will put forth every effort to make your visit to the studio an instructive, happy occasion.

A short distance from the Galleria Building (west to Kingshighway, then north to 465) is Peck Gowns Inc., an exclusive shop showing evening, day-time, and sport dresses. Franklin Sweater Suits are features also by Mrs. Peck.

Les Quatre Saisons (just around the corner on Waterman) is another charming shop catering to the needs of the miss and matron. Here the shopper of limited budget may select exclusive models in gowns, hats, and wraps.

The lover of antiques will spend many delightful hours in The Lighted Lamp, replete with antique furniture, gifts, and novelties, (On the Delmar-Olive line at DeBaliviere.)

Magnificent Masonic Temple Dedicated This Week

DEDICATION ceremonies for the Masonic Temple, 3681 Lindell boulevard, will be held this week, Tuesday, the 26th, on the monumental flight of steps approaching the Temple. Lindell boulevard from Grand to Spring will be closed to traffic during the ceremonies.

Preceding the dedicatory program, there will be a parade from Kings-highway and Lindell boulevards east on Lindell to the Temple, starting at 1:30 p. m., and including in the line of march, the Knight Templar Commanderies, the organized bodies of the Shrine and the Grotto. Acting as an escort to the Grand Lodge officers will be the officers of the Temple Association and members of the Masonic lodges and Eastern Star chapters of the city. Gen. E. J. Spencer will be Grand Marshall.

Ceremonies before the Temple will follow the formal ritual of the Grand Lodge. Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, pastor of the St. John's Methodist Church, will deliver an address.

Representatives of the Sixth Infantry and the 138th National Guard will march in the parade, while members of the 35th Division Air Corps will fly over Lindell boulevard and the Temple during the ceremonies. After the program the building will be open for inspection.

The Temple which is reminiscent of primitive temple architecture, carries the structure to a height of 160 feet or the equivalent of a fourteen story office building. Two imposing sculptured figures of the Sphinx will stand guard on either side of the impressive flight of steps that mark the approach from the Lindell boulevard side. The estimated cost of the Temple is $4,000,000. Construction on the building was begun late in the summer of 1924, but two more years will elapse before it is completed.

When finished the Temple will contain the following major units: An auditorium seating approximately 2200, designed to accommodate the annual gatherings of all the Grand bodies, both Masonic and Eastern Star, of Missouri; a library to accommodate from 20,000 to 30,000 volumes; three Eastern Star Chapter halls of various sizes, with all necessary anterooms and social rooms; eight Blue Lodge halls of varying sizes, with all necessary anterooms, preparation rooms, and social rooms, sufficient to provide a meeting place for all the lodges now in St. Louis; one Royal Arch Chapter hall with large stage and auxiliary rooms; a Commandery Asylum, with the Prelatess Chamber and with all the incidental compartments; a banquet hall, accommodating about 3000 persons, and divisible into a number of small units; offices for the Temple Association and offices for all of the Grand bodies, both Masonic and Eastern Star, of the state of Missouri; six elevators and a power plant adequate to provide power necessary for all purposes of the building, including heat, light, ventilation, and the elevators.

SEVENTY booths in which Boy Scouts will actually demonstrate their knowledge of the different crafts, trades, and professions, will comprise the novel exhibits of the Merit Badge Exposition held at the Coliseum, October 28, 29 and 30 of this week. The Exposition sponsored by the Rotary Club of St. Louis is designed to show the variety of educational subjects in which the Scouts receive training. It will offer a splendid opportunity to see the boys building bridges, binding books, doing leather work, and many other jobs in exact duplication of the way they earn their badges, and find their life vocations through their scout work.

In each booth will be a Rotary patron, a man high in the profession or trade demonstrated. He will advise and co-operate with the scout master in directing the work of the boys. The Coliseum will be decorated for the occasion, and evening entertainment will be provided in the form of music, athletic contests, drills, and Scout activities not featured in the booths. Prizes and awards will be made to both the troop and individual scouts showing the highest degree of skill and originality in the work.

To become a scout, a boy must be at least twelve years of age. When he has shown his ability to repeat the scout oath and law in full and has a thorough knowledge of the meaning and has also passed a required number of tests, he is registered as a Tenderfoot Scout; ten additional tests attain the Second Class Rank; and twelve more the First Class Rank.

The Merit Badge is an insignia which a First Class Scout may wear if he has successfully passed the tests in certain subjects, as carpentry and automobile repairing. These tests teach the rudiments of the various crafts and help the boy find the occupation that appeals to him for a life work. By the number of Merit Badges he passes, the scout advances to the rank of Star Scout, then Life Scout and finally after passing twenty-one Merit Badge tests, he acquires the coveted title of Eagle Scout.

Give the right of way to the car that is wrong or pay the price of an accident. And from this thought we see the wisdom of side-stepping the man that is wrong.

BY ALL MEANS

—See Shaw's Garden

[At the present rate of its development it will soon surpass the famous gardens at Kew]

Famed throughout the world for its botanical species and beautiful floral displays, Shaw's Garden ranks second only to the famous Kew Gardens in England and contains the largest collection of plant life in America. The Garden embraces about 75 acres and contains more than 11,000 species of plants from all parts of the globe.

The Garden with its rare floral beauties was bequeathed to public use by the will of Henry Shaw who died in 1889, and is maintained under the supervision of a board of trustees. Its orchid collection is the finest on the American continent. The Medicinal Garden, including seventy-two families and more than two hundred species of plants mentioned in the pharmacopæia, is as nearly as possible a replica of the Chelsea Physic Garden planned by John Hays in 1753.

The orchid and chrysanthemum shows have established national reputations for the gorgeousness and rarity of their blooms and the beauty and method of display.

View of Formal Gardens

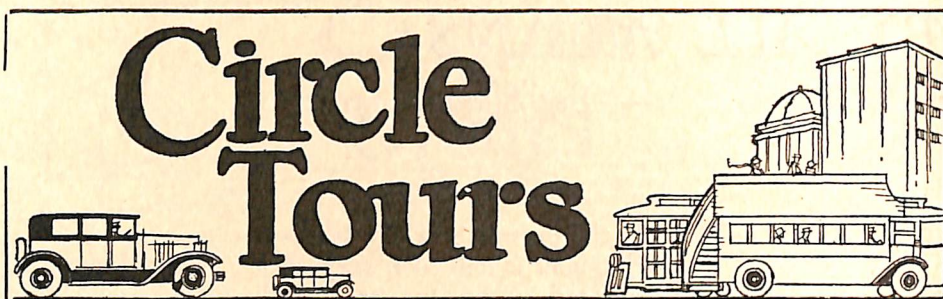

Laboratory and lecture rooms of a School of Botany conducted in the Garden combine the features of a pleasure ground with those of an institution of scientific research. There is now in process of development a 1500 acre tract of land outside the city limits which is to be devoted to the propagation of plants, trees, and shrubs designed for showing at the city gardens, thus avoiding the existing difficulties of growing plants in city atmosphere. With the development of this new addition, the Missouri Garden is expected to surpass even the famous garden at Kew in a short time.

The Garden is open daily from 8 a. m. to one-half hour after sunset and Sundays from 2 p. m. until sunset. Admission is free. Entrance at Flora Place and Tower Grove avenue. Bus No. 12 or Vandalia car.

Rare Exotic Plants

Circle Tours

Tour No. 1—By Bus

Time: Two and one-half hours, not including intervals at stop-over points. By leaving the starting point at 10:30 a. m. and stopping fifteen minutes at Compton Hill Park and forty-five minutes at Shaw's Garden, one may reach the stop-over point for Forest Park at noon. Bus fare: From 30 cents to 75 cents, depending on the number of stops.

BOARD southbound bus No. 12 on the southwest corner of Fourth and Washington, passing on Fourth street: the new Federal Reserve Bank Building, right, at Locust; the City's historic old Court House, built in 1839, the scene of many a slave sale in the Civil War days and the starting point for the Lewis and Clark expedition, right between Chestnut and Market; commercial district devoted to manufacturing plants and warehouses, small shops operated for the most part by the city's foreign population.

The bus turns into Broadway. Between Papin and Gratiot, it passes under the west approach of the Free Bridge, the largest double decked steel span bridge in the world.

Proceeding west on Russell, it passes through one of the oldest residential districts on the South Side; McKinley Junior High School, left, at Missouri. In the 3100 block, the route cuts through Hawthorne and Longfellow, two of the wealthiest residential boulevards in the South Side. On the right at Grand boulevard is the Compton Hill Reservoir and Park. Points of interest: Statue of Naked Truth, northwest corner; Missouri Pacific Hospital west side; Third Church of Christ Scientist, south side.

The bus proceeds westward on Russell to Shaw to Tower Grove avenue (4300) where stop is made for Missouri Botanical Gardens (Shaw's Garden). The entrance to the Garden is three blocks south (left) at Flora boulevard.

Continue west on same bus line. Transfer to northbound bus No. 5 at Kingshighway. Points of interest along Kingshighway: district of manufacturing plants, foundries, and warehouses; Kingshighway Viaduct; at Oakland avenue, looking left, the new $500,000 high school of St. Louis University and past it the site of the St. Louis University stadium; in the distance on the same street a glimpse of Forest Park Highlands; on the right the Central Institute for the

Barnes Hospital

The Scottish Rite Cathedral

Deaf; the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children, right at Clayton.

Here one swings into the greatest group of hospitals in the world. On right, as Kingshighway turns west are Barnes Hospitals, including new Maternity Hospital, Washington University Clinics and laboratories, the Childrens Hospitals and the Nurses' Home; on right at Park-view place, the new Jewish Hospital. Right at West Pine, the Buckingham Hotel.

At Lindell transfer to westbound bus No. 3 at northeast corner. Kingshighway at this section is one of the fashionable thoroughfares of the West End. Here is the main entrance to Forest Park with Shelter House and Blair Monument; Hotel Chase on northeast corner. Bus No. 3 passes on right group of homes occupied by some of the wealthy and aristocratic families of St. Louis. Bus turns on Union passing the Gatesworth Hotel, the new Congress and Senate Apartments, then turns west on Waterman to DeBaliviere where a stop may be made for luncheon and a trip through Forest Park. Left, at the south end of DeBaliviere stands the Jefferson Memorial, open daily to visitors. A park bus may be secured in front of the Memorial for an interesting tour of Forest Park (See "Parks and Pleasure Resorts.").

The main tour is resumed at Waterman and DeBaliviere on a westbound bus No. 3 through a residential district to the end of the line, passing on Skinker, Washington University, St. Louis School of Fine Arts, and the United Hebrew Temple on the right. On the return trip the route is retraced to Kingshighway and Lindell. Down Lindell, left, the New Cathedral (Catholic), Rosati-Kain High School, Moolah (Shrine) Temple, the Columbian Club, St. Louis Medical Society Building, the Travellers Protective Association, the Coronado Hotel, the Masonic Temple, the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and the Melbourne Hotel. On right near Grand, the St. Louis University High School and Auditorium, and the St. Francis Xavier Church.

The route cuts into Locust street into the automobile district. It passes the rear of the Coliseum, left, at Jefferson, the Claridge Hotel, right, at Eighteenth; the new Y. M. C. A. Building, right, at Sixteenth; Warwick Hotel, right, at Fifteenth; Y. W. C. A., left, near Fourteenth;

Grant's Log Cabin

GRANT LOG CABIN: In St. Louis County on what is now known as the Busch estate. General U. S. Grant, Civil War hero and president of the United States, lived here for a number of years. Ulysses (Buck), Ellen (Nellie), and Jesse Root Grant were born in this cabin.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL: The gift of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Midway between the Lindell boulevard entrance to Forest Park and Jefferson Memorial. Bus No. 3 or 18.

JEFFERSON MEMORIAL: In Forest Park at the De Baliviere avenue entrance. Contains relics of the city's early history, and is headquarters for the Missouri Historical Library. A fifty-foot marble statue of Thomas Jefferson, by Carl Bitter, stands in the rotunda separating the two wings of the building. The battle flags of the Missouri troops that served in the World War present an interesting exhibit. The memorial is located on the site of the entrance to the World's Fair held here in 1904.

MISSOURI HISTORICAL SOCIETY HEADQUARTERS:

Occupies a section of the Jefferson Memorial Building. The Society has a large collection of Missouri historical relics including the first church bell used in St. Louis in 1770. There is also a large and varied collection of original manuscripts pertaining to French and Spanish days in Missouri. Included in the collection is the original petition for the incorporation of St. Louis in 1808. Olive-University car.

MOUNDS: The largest Indian mound in the world is located four miles north of East

Jefferson Memorial

Interior of Monkey House

St. Louis (Ill.). It is known as the Cahokia Mound and covers nearly 17 acres. It is 104 feet high. Reached by Collinsville car from Eads Bridge at Third street and Washington avenue. About a 35-minute ride.

OLD CATHEDRAL (Catholic): Second and Walnut streets. No. 20-S Downtown Map. The first church built in St. Louis was located on the site on which the present structure stands, shortly after the landing of Laclède, 1764.

JEFFERSON BARRACKS: United States Army Post Station of Grant, Lee, Jefferson Davis, and many of the famous soldiers of America during their military careers. During the World War Jefferson Barracks was a recruiting depot and distributing center, and thousands of soldiers received their early training and were equipped at this Post for duty overseas. Band concerts held every Sunday just east of parade grounds. National cemetery and Veteran's Hospital also on reservation. Broadway car south

OLD COURTHOUSE: Chestnut and Market streets at Fourth street. See Downtown Map. Built in 1839 in the form of a Greek cross and after the Doric order of Architecture. Slaves were sold from the steps of the building during the Civil War. Interest centers in the dome of this old structure and visitors are well repaid for the labor of climbing the long winding stairways.

FLORISSANT: Quaint French settlement about fifteen miles from here through famed Florissant Valley, passing Romona Lake and Normandy Grove. Seat of Loretto Convent. At one time a larger and more important village than St. Louis. One and one-half hours' ride. Hodiament or Wellston car to Wellston Junction. Change to Kirkwood-Ferguson line.

ST. CHARLES: Early capitol of Missouri and site of early Spanish fort. Halting place of Lewis and Clark Expedition to Pacific in 1802. Two hours' ride. Hodiament or Wellston car to Wellston Junction, change to St. Charles car.

Here you will find an interesting and comprehensive zoo, the world's largest bird cage, municipal golf links, and tennis courts that are artificially lighted making them available for use at night as well as day. Gridirons, baseball diamonds, soccer fields, bridle paths, and boats and canoes on the lagoons afford maximum opportunity for the enjoyment of out-door sports. The Art Museum, the fourth finest in the country, and the Jefferson Memorial with its statue of Thomas Jefferson, by Bitter, may also be found here.

Valley of the Lakes

On Art Hill stands the heroic figure of St. Louis by Niehaus, at the base of which was enacted the most impressive ceremony modern St. Louis has witnessed, when the French Legion on its visit here, dipped colors for the second time in history, honoring St. Louis as no other city in the world has been honored. Here also is located the Municipal Open Air Theatre, a description of which may be found elsewhere in the book. Market, Taylor, University - Olive, City Limits cars. Bus No. 5, 18 or 13.

LAFAYETTE PARK: Mississippi and Lafayette avenues. Contains trophies of the War of the Revolution. Statues of Washington and Benton. Compton, Park, Fourth, or Tower Grove cars.

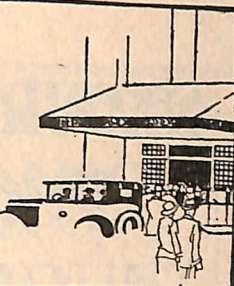

O'FALLON PARK: A park in its primitive state, embracing 159 acres and holding a commanding situation overlooking the Mississippi River. From the observatory in the Park, one may obtain a splendid view of the surrounding country.

TOWER GROVE PARK: A beautiful piece of landscape gardening, covering 277 acres. Noted for the large variety of shrubs and trees cultivated. Ponds filled with rare lilies may be found in the central part. Grand, Tower Grove, Compton, Park, Vandeventer and Southampton cars. Bus No. 12, 8 or 5.

ZOOLOGICAL PARK: Occupying 72 acres in the southwest part of Forest Park. Contains a series of rustic pools with stone bridges. In summer these pools accommodate aquatic animals and birds. Modern animal houses. One of the largest bird cages in the world; clear water lakes; an abundance of trees, shrubbery and landscape gardening; cageless bear pits. Market car. Bus No. 3 or 18 to park bus.

"The Lady Next Door" at the Empress this week, is one of the best comedies interpretive of American life in many a season.

It is the story of two duplicate suburban homes. In one lives Ed. Graham, a drudge, husband and father, with his punctiliously dutiful wife and mother of his ten-year old child. In the other lives Belle Sheridan, a Winter Garden girl, who has left the stage for marriage in her futile dream of a home. This neglected wife and the neglected drudge husband next door, in their loneliness and longing for human companionship and understanding, feel the fleeting wings of romance brush by them.

Quite unexpectedly as he strums his mandolin, which he is forbidden to play at home, to her accompaniment of "The Blue Danube," the vision of escape in elopement forms itself. But the man, bound by thirteen years of habit, cannot break the bonds. Yet the vision brings him some emancipation in his dreary life. I doubt if there is a more moving or poignant final curtain than that of "The Lady Next Door" with the suburban husband, imbued with courage from the vanished Belle, strumming on his forbidden mandolin "The Blue Danube."

Fairmount Jockey Club
Collinsville, Ill.

The Fairmount Jockey Club's Autumn meeting at the million dollar racing plant near Collinsville is attracting a record attendance of prominent horse fanciers from Greater St. Louis and Kentucky and the Club House has taken on the appearance of a Saratoga meeting.

The closing week is crowded with special events and the increased stakes have attracted many new horses to the Fairmount course. There are about 750 of America's finest thoroughbreds now quartered at the Fairmount stables.

Special express bus service to the track is maintained daily by the People's Motorbus Company. Buses operate at frequent intervals from the Hotel Jefferson and Eads Bridge. On Saturdays and days of special races, double-deck buses are used.

John Barrymore in "Don Juan" which will begin the fourth week of its stay at the Capital Theatre at the matinee tomorrow.

Beyond peradventure, Vitaphone is the most marvelous electrical discovery of the age and realizes the dreams of electrical engineers for the past decade. It is the result of ten years laboratory work by the Vitaphone Corporation, the Western Electric Company, and the Bell Telephone Laboratory, and synchronizes perfectly voice, action, motion, and personality.

The newspapers of New York, Brooklyn, Atlantic City, Chicago, and St. Louis have editorially acclaimed this uncanny electrical instrument. Scientific magazines have contained articles by the foremost men in their field marveling at the unbelievable performance of Vitaphone.

So 'tis small wonder that St. Louis audiences are delighted when such great artists as Marion Tally, Missouri's own grand opera prima donna, Mischa Elman, master of the violin, Anna Case, opera and concert star, the New York Philharmonic Orchestra of 107 concert musicians, conducted by Henry Hadley, and Giovanni Martinelli, render the Vitaphone Prelude which is composed entirely of some of the most popular music ever composed and sung and played as only these great artists can interpret the harmonies of the various composers.

It is the most marvelous musical program that has ever been assembled to delight the American public.

When you add to this a thrilling photo-film with John Barrymore playing the title role of the legendary greatest lover the world has ever known, "Don Juan," the local-play goers are offered an evening of rarest enjoyment.

The Frank D. Boyd Advertising Company has moved into larger offices in the Liberty Central Trust Building, Broadway and Olive. The company specializes in service for local advertisers, preparing advertising for such firms as the Busy Bee Candy Company, Marx & Jones, Liberty Central Trust Company, Lungstras Dyeing and Cleaning Company, Drosen Jewelry Company, Oliver Cadillac Company, Maserang Drug Company, J. Kennard & Son, Lorenzo E. Anderson & Company, Schweig Studio, City Dairies Company and Swope Shoe Company.

The wedding coat and vest of Auguste Chouteau and the second day dress of his bride, Marie Theresa Cerre, whom he married on September 21, 1786, have been presented to the Missouri Historical Society by Mrs. John S. Winthrop, of Tallahassee, Florida, a granddaughter of Chouteau, and are now on display at Jefferson Memorial here. The wedding coat, a long-tailed garment of green satin, is lined with pink satin and has broad hems of ruffled pink satin.

A new organ, said to be one of the most magnificent in the country, is to be installed at Christ Church Cathedral here. The cost of the new instrument will be $40,000.

Two Bibles, said to be 200 years old, have been found by St. Louisans. A family Bible printed in 1713 was found by T. A. Meyers after a search of many years. H. G. Althen, going over his effects in preparing to move, found a Bible printed in German, dated 1728. It was brought to this country by his grandfather.

The 970 firemen of St. Louis' fifty-six companies are going to school and will continue to do so during the next few months to learn uniform methods of handling equipment and to take part in maneuvers. It is the city's first drill school for firemen.
